Dreamland takes pleasure to-day in offering the public such a film as "The Merry Widow Takes Another Partner." It is a Vitaphone, and a fine comedy-drama. When one laughs everybody laughs. This comedy provides a laugh for everybody, and more besides. Clean, bright humor; it is a winner. Burlando has a good song in "Waiter, I'm Weary, Dearie."

D. A. Perry received a carload of three Ford touring cars Saturday, which he has sold to J. J. Delden of Waitsfield, Alfred Harris of Montpelier and Fred Moulton of South Barre. He expects another carload to arrive the first of next week, which are also sold. With this last carload, it will make 24 Ford machines that he has sold this year to parties in Washington county.

"The End of the Trail" is the headliner to-day, down at the Bijou. It is a picture having to do with Mormonism, and is especially interesting, because the founder of this sect of religion was born here in Vermont. The picture teaches a strong moral. Harry Ross, the new singer, took well with the crowd last evening, as was evidenced by the applause. To-day he will sing "Come Right In and Sit Right Down."

The Barre Male chorus will meet for rehearsal this evening at 7 o'clock in the vestry of the Congregational church, at 8 o'clock in the same room the Barre Choral union meets for rehearsal. J. C. Coulombe of Northfield, an inventor of a vibrationless pneumatic tool, was in the city to-day introducing his tools among the stonemasons, with the purpose of showing up their qualities in comparison with other air tools. Mr. Coulombe has invented a tool which does away with practically all of the vibration, which is so pronounced in the present-day tools when in operation. An old stonemason who tried the heavy bull-head tool at Barton, Hayes & Bancroft's shed this forenoon, spoke very highly of it and said that it would put "10 years on a stonemason's life." The constant vibration of the air tools is very tiresome and nerve-racking to the user, and through Mr. Coulombe's invention the vibration is practically nothing as compared with the old tools.

The Lilliputian Opera Co. at the Barre opera house last night proved to be a very great surprise to every one. The children range from four years to fourteen. The great hit of the night was baby Gracie, a tiny tot of four, but the whole opera was indeed a wonderful performance for children of such a tender age. The singing, acting and dancing was of such an order that it is not always surpassed, even by adults. When one considers what these children have already attained, he is surely justified in thinking that some of them will surely turn out to be great factors in their art. One of the surprises of the evening was the quintet, "Try We Life Long." Such accurate singing and purity of tone was wonderful, to say the least. The same may be said of the quartet, "Then One of Us will be Queen." The people of Barre should not miss the opportunity of hearing these wonderful children and they should undoubtedly play to a capacity house to-night.
